

HEALTH & SAFETY POLICY SUMMARY

Thames Side Sensors Limited is fully committed to facilitating and maintaining a safe and healthy working environment for all our employees and visitors and to providing, where relevant, the information, training and supervision necessary to provide adequate control of health and safety risks arising from work activities.

At Thames Side Sensors Limited we expect staff, visitors and any sub-contractors working at the company facility to share this commitment by complying with our policies and procedures and to understand that they too have legal and moral obligations to themselves and one another.

We endeavour to ensure the health and safety of all persons who may be affected by our activities by;

- Consulting with and involving staff in matters related to their own health and safety
- Managing and maintaining the workplace so that it is, as far as reasonably practicable, safe and that any risks to health are controlled
- Managing and maintaining plant, tools and equipment to ensure control of the risks to health and safety
- Identifying hazards and conducting risk assessments as appropriate
- Ensuring that control measures and emergency procedures are in place, effective, used properly, monitored and maintained
- Providing information, training and supervision where necessary in order to ensure staff are aware of any related hazards and the measures to be taken to protect against them
- Keeping ourselves up-to-date with best practice in relation to health and safety and complying with all relevant legislation and authoritative guidance
- Promoting a positive and collaborative health and safety culture

We will regularly review and develop our health and safety management systems with the aim of conducting our activities in a manner that does not affect the health and safety of any staff, visitors or contractors or adversely affect the wider environment.

This policy has been endorsed by and is fully supported by every member of the Thames Side Sensors Limited Management Team.
